Guard's Selection

Security Guards are inducted on merit after going through certain procedures and verifications that include testing of physical strength, physical appearance, health, age, duration of military service and character assessments.

Training the Trainers

We believe in training the trainers. For this purpose AQSA has a dedicated certified training instructor who runs training cadres at the head office and monitors the training facilities at regional offices.

The guards are trained by professionals in the following:

- Weapon Handling
- Weapon Safety
- Firing
- Security Duties
- Search Operations
- Access Control Procedures
- Fire Fighting
- Health & Safety
- Emergency Response
- Ethics
- VPSHR
- Crisis Management

Training Instructor trains the field supervisors as trainers who in turn train guards on a regular basis. Moreover, guards are visited by the trainer and armorer once every three months to conduct on site weapon inspection, firing and training refresher. In addition, we also train our guards at Elite Police Training School of Punjab and APSAA training facilities.

Facilities to Guards

- EOBI
- Pick & Drop
- Social Security
- Accommodation
- Competitive Salary Package
- Insurance against injury /death

Q.R.F. Quick Response Force

A Quick Response Force (QRF) is deployed on ground for responding to various alarms. A typical QRF consists of motorbike with two guards in each shift. Shahzore with 4-armed guards is also used as a secondary back up. The guards are properly trained, equipped with weapons and VHF sets for effective communication.
